THE FOLLOWING IS AN INFORMED CONSENT FOR YOUR REVIEW. BY USE OF THE WEBSITE YOU ACKNOWLEDGE THAT YOU HAVE CAREFULLY READ AND CONSENT TO THE FOLLOWING, INCLUDING THE PRIVACY POLICY AND TERMS AND CONDITIONS, AND THAT YOU LEGALLY ACKNOWLEDGE YOUR UNDERSTANDING OF AND AGREEMENT TO THE SAME.

OptimX HEALTH, LLC ("OptimX Health") practices telemedicine through this portal, for adult males only. You provide and OptimX Health collects and uses your medical information to aid medical providers, including physicians, pharmacists, and other health professionals ("Providers"), in evaluation of your health status. These Providers may make recommendations of prescriptions and other treatments for erectile dysfunction, low testosterone and other male only maladies which then may be transmitted through the Website. OptimX Health may utilize videoconferencing, exchange medical records, or other information via electronic transmission through this website, www.OptimXhealth.com, and associated applications for other devices (together the "Website"). Your information may be shared with Providers at OptimX Health's discretion. OptimX Health and Providers cannot replace your general physician ("GP") and may only be considered a supplement to your GP.

Telemedicine is a new and evolving field. As such problems may arise that would not arise in a clinical setting. As previously stated, use of the OptimX Health portal is not a replacement for consultation with a GP and by using this site, you acknowledge that you have a GP with whom you regularly consult.

By its nature, telemedicine consultation alone may not provide sufficient information to OptimX Health affiliated Providers to make the most appropriate recommendations for your care. The price of the convenience offered by telemedicine is the absence of face to face interactions and collection of firsthand examinations, testing and vital signs. This lack could mask a potential need for emergency services or consultations in other fields. In addition, the possibility of failure of electronic transmissions may result in delays or errors in evaluation. The lack of clinical consultation could result in limitations of treatment options available.

Telemedicine services are not medical services. Rather it provides a technology platform for you to access a health care provider affiliated with OptimX HEALTH Pvt. Ltd. to obtain access to additional information, which you may or may not choose to utilize in planning your health care. The health resources made available through our services are not a substitute for direct in-person health care services. The decision to focus on diagnosis, treatment recommendations, or both, rests with you and Providers. You understand that by coordinating and in certain cases consulting with a Provider through OptimX Health's Website, YOU ARE NOT ENTERING INTO A PATIENT RELATIONSHIP WITH OptimX HEALTH.
